The webinar will share how MPTF has identified and tracked issues affecting at-risk seniors. Best practices and tools used to support the decision making process in transitioning into different levels of care will be discussed. Two webinar presentations will be held on the 21st ---- 10-11 A.M. and 3-4 P.M.

SUBJECT: Disaster Preparation Update

More than 50 million people with limitations may need some assistance during an emergency. This fact makes it important for each of us in the Aging Network to develop, practice, and put in place response plans and key partnerships before emergencies occur. Many of you have begun this process by participating in the Community-Based Emergency Response Seminars that were held around the Commonwealth in the Spring. Some of you also participated in the series of Emergency Preparedness and Disaster Assistance Webinars the Administration on Aging hosted in June. AoA states that they will continue sharing information to help our network prepare for potential emergencies and disasters.

I suggest that AAAs begin to develop a "Disaster Library" containing information that may be critical during an emergency. With this in mind, I want to call your attention to three reports recently released that are designed to advance emergency preparedness:

Finally, go to the Virginia Department of Emergency Management (VDEM) website to get information about disaster planning, disaster kits, etc: <http://www.vaemergency.com/>

So far, Virginia has dodged any significant "disaster" (hurricane, blizzard, ice storm, wild fire, etc.) during the last several years....which just makes it probable that we will face some event in the not too distant future. Start your planning now.

SUBJECT: Disaster Preparation Update #2

See the news release below. Note that the message from the federal government is that we must take responsibility for our own safety during a disaster! This concept is also promoted by the Virginia Department of Emergency Management (VDEM).

As you well know, many of our older citizens will refuse to evacuate if they are unable to take their pets with them. VDA, along with other advocacy organizations, has been pushing VDEM to develop guidelines for dealing with pets (companion animals) during emergency evacuations and as the Commonwealth develops options for emergency shelters. On the positive side, VDEM has been working with the state veterinarians' association to develop plans for caring for these animals. As I learn more, I will keep you updated.

The Department of Homeland Security Releases New Preparedness Resources for Seniors, People With Disabilities, and Pet Owners

Release Date: August 13, 2007

For Immediate Release
Office of the Press Secretary
Contact: 202-282-8010

The severe weather experienced this summer in parts of the country, and the continuing threat of terrorism, are reminders of how critical it is for all Americans to prepare for emergencies. The U.S. Department of Homeland Security's Ready Campaign has released three new demonstration videos designed to highlight the specific steps older Americans, individuals with disabilities and special needs, and pet owners should take to prepare for emergencies.

“All Americans have a responsibility to take steps now to be prepared for emergencies whether they are caused by nature or by man,” said Homeland Security Secretary Michael Chertoff. “These new demonstration videos detail some of the unique steps seniors, people with disabilities and pet owners should take to keep themselves and their families safe and prepared for the unexpected.”

The Department of Homeland Security worked with AARP, National Organization on Disability and The Humane Society of the United States to develop these new emergency preparedness resources. The videos, available online at www.ready.gov, remind individuals to get an emergency supply kit, make a family emergency plan and be informed about the different types of emergencies while considering the unique needs of these individuals, their families and caregivers. The videos recommend seniors include any necessary prescription medications in their emergency supply kits. It encourages Americans with disabilities or special needs to create a personal support network that they can rely on during an emergency. Pet owners are advised to learn which emergency shelters in their area and/or along their evacuation route will allow pets.

The new videos are released in time for National Preparedness Month 2007, a nationwide effort held each September to encourage Americans to take simple steps to prepare for emergencies. The goal of National Preparedness Month is to increase public awareness about the importance of family preparedness and to encourage individuals to take action in their homes and schools.

The U.S. Department of Homeland Security promotes individual emergency preparedness through the Ready Campaign and Citizen Corps. Ready is a national public service advertising campaign produced by The Advertising Council in partnership with the Department of Homeland Security. The Ready Campaign is designed to educate and empower Americans to prepare for and respond to emergencies, including natural disasters and potential terrorist attacks. Individuals interested in more information about family and business preparedness can visit www.ready.gov or call 1-800-BE-READY to receive free materials. Citizen Corps brings together community, emergency and government leaders to involve community members in emergency preparedness, planning, mitigation, response, and recovery. Through Citizen Corps and its program partners and affiliates, individuals can find training and volunteer opportunities to support first responders in an emergency. Americans can learn more about volunteering by visiting www.CitizenCorps.gov

Consumer-Directed, Home and Community Services for Adults with Dementia

In this new policy brief from the Alzheimer's Association, Jane Tilly, Director of Quality Care for the Association, examines the effectiveness of consumer-directed programs for adults with dementia. In consumer-directed programs, participants and their representatives have more control over the services and supports utilized to help families keep their loved ones with dementia at home. The paper notes that for families of Alzheimer's patients, there are increased responsibilities in managing consumer-directed programs. Program officials in eleven states were surveyed to gain information about practices developed to aid dementia patients direct their own services. As a result of the study, the Alzheimer's Association developed a set of policy recommendations concerning such programs. The entire study and recommendations can be accessed at: http://www.alz.org/join\_the\_cause\_issue\_brief.asp

Federal Legislation

On August 2, 2007, the Senate passed an amendment to extend the Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) for families of wounded service members. The legislation would allow workers to take up to six months of unpaid, job-protected leave - compared to the current allowance of 12 weeks - to care for family members seriously injured in combat. The legislation was offered as an amendment to the State Children's Health Insurance Program (SCHIP) reauthorization bill (H.R. 976). The amendment was not included in the House-passed version of the SCHIP reauthorization bill, so it remains to be seen if this amendment is preserved in the final version of that legislation. For more information, visit: www.thomas.loc.gov/

The Alzheimer's Breakthrough Act (S. 898) passed in the Senate Health, Education, Labor and Pensions (HELP) Committee. The bill would double funding for Alzheimer's research at the National Institutes of Health (NIH), as well as expand family caregiver services within certain state programs by, among other things, providing caregiver assessments. It would also establish a national, 24 hour-a-day Alzheimer's disease call center to provide expert advice, care consultation, information, and referrals. SPEAKERS

Our keynote speaker will be A. Ray Pentecost III, Dr.PH, AIA, ACHA, who is Vice President and Director of Healthcare Architecture at Clark Nexsen Architecture and Engineering. Dr. Pentecost has a longstanding interest in and commitment to design for the aging and people with disabilities. Dr. Pentecost will define Universal Design, provide resources to assess the home for Universal Design features, and discuss how it empowers one to “age in place”.

Bruce V. DeSimone, AICP, is a Community Housing Officer on VHDA’s REACH Team, and is responsible for outreach to Seniors. He will moderate the Symposium.

William E. “Bill” Fuller, Ph.D., Senior Community Housing Officer with VHDA, will provide a current “state of the art” overview of the differing housing and services sectors, and how this disconnect adversely affects the quality of housing for seniors and persons with disabilities.

Kathy Vesley-Massey is Bay Aging’s Chief Operating Officer. Bay Aging is an area agency on aging serving a 10-county, rural and suburbanizing region in Tidewater Virginia. She will share her insights into how Bay Aging has been able break down the silos to blend aging services with public transit and single and multifamily housing repair, rehabilitation and new construction in order to provide a “continuum of care” for older adults.

Geraldine “Dene” Peterson is a founder of ElderSpirit Community at Trailview, an internationally acclaimed co-housing community located in Abingdon, Virginia. According to their brochure, “ElderSpirit is the name chosen by a group of older adults committed to spiritual growth, caring for one another, respect for the earth and service to the larger community”. Ms. Peterson will share her thoughts on how these ideals can create and nurture a quality life experience for the homeowners and tenants living in this, and other communities.

William S. “Bill” Massey, Chief Executive Officer, and Susie Castle of Peninsula Agency on Aging, will share their insights into PAA’s S.O.S. (Senior Outreach to Services) Program. Seniors, living in income-based housing, are linked to the community resources they need to remain independent. The S.O.S. model, with its streamlined approach to care coordination, could emerge as the standard for care coordination statewide.

Michelle Miller is the Cluster Care Volunteer Coordinator for the Fairfax (County) Area Agency on Aging. The Cluster Care Program recruits and screens volunteer individuals, faith-based organizations, companies and organizations to work with Seniors 60+ and adults with disabilities to enhance the lives of clients in need, offset the cost of home-based care, and bring the community closer together to help one another. Cluster Care was a recipient of the National Association of Area Agencies on Aging 2006 Aging Innovations and Achievement Award.

Joy A. Cipriano, Director of the Office of Property & Resource Development, and G. Richard Jackson, M.P.A., Geriatric Services Administrator, both of the Hampton-Newport News Community Services Board. Area agencies on aging and community services boards were both created to help keep their respective stakeholders living in the community and avoid institutionalization. With the first of the boomers turning 60 and “aging in place”, should AAA’s and CSB’s step-up their collaboration?
